President's Message

Robert J. Passamano, DDS

As my term as OCDS President is entering the second half, I am reflecting on OCDS's accomplishments so far this year and feeling positive about the future of our organization and profession. Although COVID-19 continues to impact us today, we are still managing to accomplish a great deal as an organization.

As you may have already heard, WE ARE MOVING! We have sold our building on Flower Street and are moving just a couple miles down the road near The Outlets at Orange (formerly The Block at Orange). The new OCDS Headquarters is located in a professional high-rise building with easy access to the 5, 22, and 57 freeways. This building is able to accommodate our social events with an outdoor courtyard as well as Continuing Education lectures with a large lecture hall. It has 24/7 security, plenty of free parking and a professional appearance that represents our society's vision. The Board of Directors and I are proud to present our new headquarters to our membership. We plan to be moved by the end of this year.

We are excited to announce that social events are back! We recently brought back "A Night Out With The Angels" on July 17th. This sold-out event was our first social event in over a year. It was great to see everyone coming together again (photos from this event in this issue). On August 21st, OCDS is hosting a breakfast at Knott's Berry Farm for family, friends and staff followed by entrance into the park. We are excited to announce that we have over 267 people registered for this event.

We had such a demand for online CE as well as great feedback regarding our Continuing Education events that we added 2 additional lectures in 2021. We now have 4 more CE events remaining this year! On August 26th, Dr. Steven Danney is presenting "Sleep Dentistry 101: Basics of Sleep, Sleep Medicine and Sleep Disorders." On September 14th, Kirk Behrendt is presenting "The Top 10 Secrets to Make Your Practice Thrive". Registration for both of these online webinars are open. On October 8th, we are hosting an in-person lecture at Glidewell in Newport Beach with Dr. Steve Carstensen on "Simplifying Dental Sleep Medicine: Helping Sleepy Patients Now". Our final CE event is scheduled for November 18th with Dr. Ben Curtis. We are proud to offer our membership 10 CE lectures for 2021 all at no additional cost to our members. With the success of online lectures this year, we plan to offer both in-person and online lectures going forward.

These are just a few of the activities that have kept us very busy this year – you'll see more details and photos in the pages that follow including a tribute to our dental museum and former headquarters. I am honored to serve you as OCDS President, and I look forward to my last half year in office being just as productive as the first half year has been!

OCDS “Building” Memories

Like many of us, our experience with organized dentistry started with the Orange County Dental Society and the building.

Many of the requirements to belong to OCDS have changed, and while some may say that it has made applying easier, some will say that they miss the old requirements and importance of membership.

When I joined OCDS, you actually had to go to the OCDS building and meet the executive director and staff. I remember it well, (this was pre Laura and Megan). The frame of the building was the same, but the set up was different. The staff offices were in what was the current board room and the board room was where the staff offices are now.

Dr. Robert Hirst was president when I began, and I was fascinated by the Board proceedings. I guess I got hooked then and there, and as they say, the rest is history.

Soon I was on the Board of Directors and there would be several work parties to “clean up the place.” We were painting cabinets in the kitchen and I thought I was being a “great help” and painted the cabinets shut. I was never invited to paint again.

OCDS was noted for the fabulous Christmas parties. The staff would decorate for months. The building was so festive, and the smells of the fresh trees and food was the best. The food was usually in the dental museum and looking around at all of the museum items was awesome. Santa would usually be in the staff office area and the board room was loaded with donated gifts for children.

Many smaller CE meetings were held in the museum or the board room over the years.

I spent many late nights at board and other meetings at the old OCDS building; in fact, my year as president we had some of the longest meetings, due to updating bylaws and standing rules. The staff provided great catered meals and it was always a surprise to see what we were going to have.

I have had the privilege to have worked with amazing dentists, executive directors, and staff over the years. OCDS is the best. We are so fortunate to have Megan, Shalyn, Stephanie, and Diana. They are helping us usher in a new chapter at OCDS.

We have been fortunate to be one of only a few components to have had our own building. Times and neighborhoods change and sometimes we have to move on.

I have many fond memories of our OCDS building but change is necessary.

The best is yet to come.

Musings from Megan

Megan Francis

It is so great to have in-person events back at OCDS! We have missed your faces and the comradery.

On July 17th, we welcomed 157 OCDS members to an Angels game (article and photos within this issue).

We are planning other in-person events such as:

- August 21 – Breakfast with OCDS at Knotts Berry Farm (Sold Out)
- October 7 – 2022 Board Installation at the Hyatt Regency and Resort Huntington Beach
- October 8 – CE Course “Simplifying Dental Sleep Medicine: Helping Sleepy Patients Now” with Steve Carstensen, DDS at Glidewell
- November 18 – CE Course regarding Pediatrics with speaker Ben Curtis, DDS at Biolase

OCDS is watching the rise of the Delta strain and if we are forced to change plans due to venues cancelling in-person events, we will let membership know.

Nearly two years ago, OCDS Board of Directors, along with our Building Committee and Museum Committee, began the journey of finding a new home for the Orange County Dental Society.

This was not a task that any of our board and committee members took lightly. They spent an enormous amount of time vetting different options and what was best for OCDS.

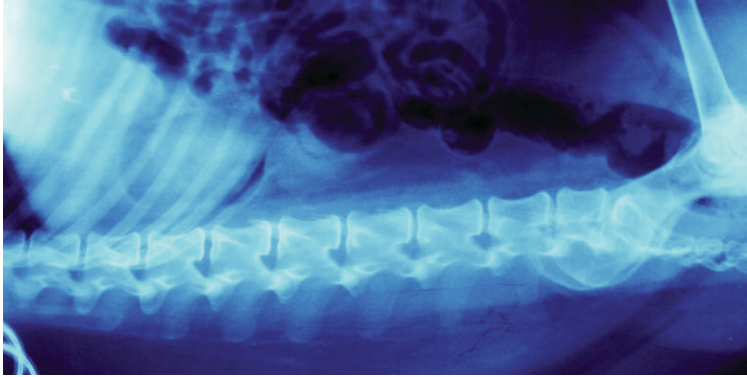

Our building and location had numerous issues, especially with safety/security and ongoing maintenance and upkeep. Our little museum was no longer a draw, as it is such a small, niche market, and no one had come in the years since I have been ED. We didn't have the space to properly exhibit all the items that were being sent to us, nor the ability to properly maintain it. To find a space in Orange County that could fit staff and the museum (especially our large items) just wasn't feasible in today's market, nor were there any locations that could house both for a reasonable price. The Museum Committee called all over the United States to find good homes for our pieces – dental schools, other museums; I found collectors in the Midwest and contacted antique television shows, but there just wasn't an interest in any of our items, and many places were downsizing as well.

While we are sad to close our museum and it was a tough decision on all of us, I want to stress that this decision was carefully planned every step of the way for an entire year. We sought to make it work, however as we have all seen in the past year, things change, and it was the best decision to move on. The new OCDS office will have quite a few valuable items displayed, including George Washington's dentures.

The OCDS building has served such a great importance to our society; it served as a place where ideas flourished, new members became leaders and people could gather and feel welcomed. There were many special people that made the old OCDS building and museum great, particularly past board members and staff. I would like to thank them for all that they did. They made a very special place for me to start my journey with OCDS almost three years ago.

Our new building is located just a few minutes from our old office, located near The Outlets at Orange and neighboring freeways, within a set of 3 high rises. It has 24/7 property management onsite and security, a large classroom to hold our CE meetings and get together, a smaller classroom to hold board and committee meetings, and an outside reception area (perhaps a pre-Angels or Ducks game reception).

I look forward to continuing seeing our members at OCDS events and hopefully at the new office in 2022.

Charles M. Fischer DDS, MS, EdD FACD, FAGD, FADI

At first glance, Chuck's professional life seems normal and straight forward....UCLA grad in Public Health, graduating from dental school, with honors, from UCSF followed by a postdoctoral fellowship in oral medicine, orofacial anomalies and maxillo-facial reconstruction. Then off to private practice in the Bay Area coupled with a part time teaching position at UCSF.

However, a closer look at Chuck's career reveals a much more unconventional path. While in dental school, he lived close to UCSF in the Haight-Ashbury district in San Francisco from 1964 to 1969. The famous "Summer of Love" erupted there in 1968 and Chuck was caught in the middle of the "hippy era". As a consequence, he became fascinated with what was happening within the emerging drug culture and entered graduate school at UCSF to study pharmacology and toxicology, receiving his Master's degree in the field. During this time he was responsible for a good deal of scholarly research in the area of drug abuse and psychoactive drugs. He was one of the small founding team that started the famous Haight-Ashbury Free Medical Clinic. And, as a matter of fact, Timothy Leary and his wife were Chuck's dental patients! Chuck's radio series, The History of Drug Abuse, was chosen as the number one FM educational radio program in the US in 1970.

Desiring to focus on dentistry rather than the field of pharmacology, Chuck, over the years, grew a large and successful dental group practice in the East Bay of San Francisco. Though preferring challenging clinical cases and full mouth reconstruction, he was forced to develop a new skill set—practice and business management—to effectively run a practice with 25 staff and four dentists. When his associate dentists indicated that they would be interested in buying his practice, Chuck was not initially interested, but then, after much consideration, eventually agreed. It was time to untether himself from the demanding admin duties of the practice and embark upon a new adventure.

Once more Chuck returned to school, got an MBA, and started a consulting company, advising clients across the country about dental practice management matters and clinical delivery of care. His consulting firm ultimately expanded its scope of business into the larger field of health services management, working in addition with hospitals, insurance companies, medical group practices, and biomedical companies.

A group of dentists in Hawaii contracted with Chuck's company to design and create the State's first large multi-office dental group practice. After completing the project, he was asked by another large Hawaii group to be their dental director. He also served as the dental director of several dental insurance companies as well as co-owned two dental laboratories. For several years he flexed his skills as a regional director for a large national corporate dental practice.

During his consulting years, Chuck had lived in a number of states, but ultimately planted his roots in Hawaii for 18 years. He returned to Southern California in 2000 to care for his ageing father and mother. He then again joined the faculty at UCSF as an associate professor.

Over the years, his consulting experience taught him that understanding organizational psychology was a key to effective organizational development. In 2004, he entered Pepperdine University's Graduate School of Education and Psychology and earned his doctorate in organizational leadership and now exclusively consults in this arena. As a member of the CDA's Leadership Development Committee for four years, he conducted profile studies on doctor-leaders of the association.

In May of this year, Chuck presented some of his research findings at the International Leadership Association's Health Care Leadership Conference. His study revealed that leaders in dentistry display characteristics that are somewhat different than the ones we observe in other groups (such as business and politics). Leader stereotypes often manifest strong dominant behaviors that are usually mitigated by charm and people skills (as measured by the DISC psychometric assessment), whereas dental leaders generally have strong compliance behaviors, also mitigated by adept people skills. Of particular note was that the assessed leadership styles of female and male dentists are surprisingly very similar. Furthermore, there is also minimal generational variation in dentist leadership styles between Baby Boomers, Traditionalists, and Generation X/Millennials.

Chuck, his wife, Denise, and daughter, Aubrey, reside in Coto de Caza. As a family they enjoy traveling, cinema and the performing arts, classic car shows, outdoor sports and activities. Chuck has served as a Board member of OCDS and continues to serve on the OCDS Leadership Development Committee and as a HOD Delegate.

night out with the ANGELS™

On July 17, members of OCDS and their staff and families came together for our first in-person event since March 2020 at Angels Stadium, to see the Angels play the Seattle Mariners.

OCDS lucked out on a hot summer day and had our event in the shade under the trees of Courtyard 5. Guests dined on typical baseball fare and had a full bar.

Those that attended sat in the club seats and were able to watch the Angels beat the Mariners! Those that stayed enjoyed the fireworks show after the game.

Thank you to all that came and our sponsors:
